

Thorberg's Café series

The artist Bergur Thorberg was born in Iceland 1951. Early on he worked extensively with music and theater but has devoted his time to painting from 1985. He has held private exhibition and participated in group exhibition in Iceland, Portugal, Sweden, Denmark, Norway and other countries. His work is owned by museums, art galleries, government institutions, companies and private collectors on all continents.

Thorberg is a very aggressive and daring painter, his work now has a simple and smooth style without having lost the sparkle and flames that have always surrounded his work.

Thorberg has been developing his Café series over the past 15 years. His goal is to capture in simplicity a moment of tranquility where friends and lovers have a moment of intimacy over a cup of coffee.

The colors and faces in the paintings seem to find their way to the viewers heart with warm memories and emotions.

Thorberg works with series in his Café series, giving each a name. The number of paintings in each series is not standard, the paintings are based on his bohemian lifestyle, attitude, experience and opinion on life. Each painting is unique and can stand alone even if it is part of a larger series.

Thorberg's method of work and material is extraordinary and unique, he paints upside-down as if to make it easier for the audience to view, but the reason for this is all about his perspective to the painting. His brush never touches the paper when he is forming the figurative part of the painting; his color "line" hangs in mid air until it finds itself on the paper or canvas forming his figures. The only color he uses is made from real coffee.

It is Thorberg's wish to create art for the public, we try our best to keep the prices down to make this possible.
